

Date: 01/06/2005

Email: kenton@kentronics.com.au

Notice:- Early Style Electroline Display Segments.

There are two distinctly different types of Electroline Display Boards. The early style use the large coil packs & the top segments have the 4 long legs on each segment. The later style is squat in height with smaller coil packs & 4 small clips which hold the segment tops onto the coil packs.

Early Style (Discontinued)

Later Style (Current)

Early Style (Discontinued)

Later Style (Current)

The reason for this notice is to inform you that the manufacturer of all these 7 segment displays is unable to manufacture the early style segments anymore. Their tooling has failed & because the world wide usage of these early style segments is very low they are not interested in supplying these items anymore. This will affect the ability for us to repair the early style Electroline Displays & also the Calcopac Display & deems them unrepairable.

Kenton McKay.